Cot. Johnson said, (in Congress)-"Who is Gen. Harrison? The son of one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, who

Of the career of Gen. Harrison I need not speak—the history of the West, is his history. For forty years he has been identified with its interests, its perils and its hopes. Universally behis ability in the councils of his country, he has been yet more illustriously distinguished in the field.

"During the late war, he was longer in active service than any other General officer, he was perhaps, oftener in action than any one of them, and never sustained a defeat."

JAMES MADISON, in a special message to Con gress, Dec. 18, 1811, said,

While it is deeply lamented that so many valuable lives have been lost in the action which took place on the 7th ultimo, Congress will see with satisfaction the dauntless spirit of fortitude victo-riously displayed by every description of troops engaged, as well as the collected firmness which distin-guished their commander on an occasion requiring the utmost exertions of valour and discipline. JAMES MADISON in his message to Congress,

Nov. 1812, said. An ample force from the States of Kentucky Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Virginia, is placed, with the addition of a few regulars under the command of Brigadier Gen. HARRISON, possesses the entire confidence of his fellow soldiers, among whom are citizens, some of them volunteers in the ranks, not less distinguished by their political stations than by their, personal merits.

In Mr. Manison's message of Dec. 1813, the empliment was extended, as follows:

The success on Lake Erie having opened a pas-sage on the territory of the enemy, the officer com manding the Northwestern arms, transferred the war thither, and, rapidly pursuing the hostile troops, fleeing with their savage associate, forced a general action, which quickly terminated in the capture of the British, and dispersion of the savage

This result is signally honorable to Major GEN RAL HARRISON, by whose military talents it was Prepared.

The following tribute of praise was paid to General Harrison, in 1811, by eleven of the officers who fought under his banner at the battile of Tip-"Should our country again require our services to fidence of victory and fame."

Extract of a letter from Col. Davies, who was killed at the battle of Tippecanoe. Aug. 24, 1511:
"I make free to declare that I have imagined there were two military men in the West, and Gen. Harrison is the first of the two."

Croghan, encircled with laurels, and the blessings of thousands of woman and children rescued from the scalping knife of the ruthless savages of the wilderness, and from the still more savage Proctor, rest on Harrison and his gallant army, In the Legislature of Indiana, on the 12th Nov 1811, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, sage of the President of the United States, nomi-Gen. Wm. Johnson, thus addressed General Har-

"Sir-The House of Representatives of the Indiana territory, in ther own name, and in behalf of their constituents, most cordially reciprocate the congratulations of your Excellency on the glorious result of the late sanguinary conflict with the Shaw-nee Prophet, and the tribes of Indians confederated with him; when we see displayed in behalf of our country, not only the consummate abilities of the general, but the heroism of the man; and when we take into view the benefits which must result to that country form those exertions, we cannot, for a noment, withhold our meed of applause."

The following resolve of both houses of the Legislature of Kentucky, will have a similar effect on the nerves of those who circulate the slander respecting the "white horse," and the fall of the gallant Col. Daviess:

Legislature of Kentucky, Jan. 7, 1812. Resolved, By the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Kentucky, that in the late campaign against the Indians upon the Wabash, Gov. William Henry Harrison has behaved like a hero, a patriot, and a general; and that for his cool, deliberate, skilful and gallant conduct in the battle of Tipecanoe, he well deserves the warmest thanks of his country and his nation.

Gen. Authory Wayne, in his Letter to the Sec retary of War, giving an official account of his sanguinary Indian Battle, in 1792, said:

My faithful and gallant Lieutenant Harrison rendered the most essential service, by communicating my orders in every direction, and by his conduct and bravery, exciting the troops to press for

The following resolution, which passed both houses of Congress, with but one dissenting voice is calculated to make the " petticoat heros," feel-

Lastly we come to the neat compliment of Thomas Richie, Editor of the Richmond Enquirer, the leading organ of the Coalition in the South, who now brandishes his old "chapeless sword with two broken points," and threatens devastating war upon the conquorer of the Brittish and Indian Coolition of the West! The Richmond Enquirer said:
